Managed Print Services

Many businesses find taking control of their in-house printed materials to be a challenge. Some IT departments are swimming in a sea of older printers and copiers from multiple manufacturers without a strategy for managing them. When your IT department is spending its time dealing with printer break/fix issues, the really critical network and system issues suffer.

We have the solution

Our Managed Print Services encompass a broad, nationwide portfolio of programs. We'll show you how our versatile, customizable MPS options can relieve the burden of print and copy management in your IT department while quickly improving business efficiencies.

We're in action right away

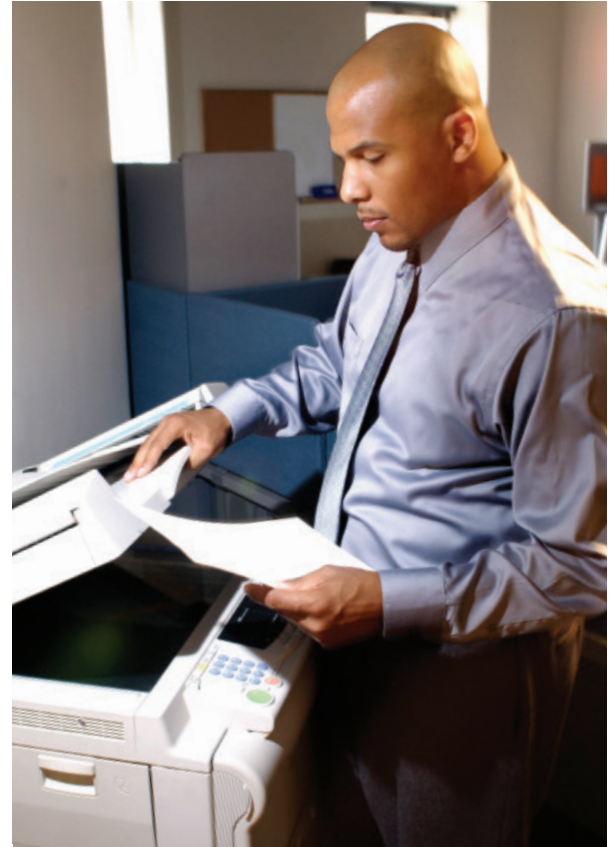

With a minimal disruption to your daily operations, we will perform a thorough analysis of your existing print environment, including an on-site visit when needed. We'll consider the issues facing your current deployment and look at workflow efficiencies that you may have never even considered.

Our analysis will include a cost assessment to find your biggest print expenses. We will show you the total cost of using and maintaining your printers, copiers, fax machines and multifunction devices. We consider everything from costly break/fix issues to power consumption, consumables and the expenses of operating older equipment.

An efficient cost-saving strategy

We will then offer you an optimized MPS plan that will help you reduce waste and automate processes while leading to cost reductions and time savings. Because most businesses spend 1-3% of their annual budget on printing, the savings can be substantial. Even if you're just looking for basic automated supplies monitoring and replenishment, we can help you find the savings.

You may simply have too many devices in the wrong locations that are using more power than necessary. We can show you how to lower your energy costs and the number of printers you support by intelligently consolidating and relocating your current deployment or just by adding a few multifunction devices. We aggressively tackle your biggest challenges
